World's Fastest Talking Woman Deposits Checks From Antarctica Using EFT Network's FAXTellerPLUS Remote Deposit System To Make Her Money Move As Fast As She Speaks

Where Remote Deposit Really Gets Remote

Hawthorne, NY, July 21, 2009 - EFT Network, a provider of innovative ACH and check processing solutions to corporations, businesses and financial institutions conducted a first-of-its-kind experiment with Fran Capo, the Guinness Book of World Records fastest talking female, comedienne, nine-time author, five-time world record holder and motivational speaker, to simplify the technology and business requirements of remote deposit capture in the frozen barren wilderness of Antarctica where there is no internet service, no phone lines; only email and satellite phones for communication.

Fran Capo was on a 68 day run of speaking engagements that took her all around the world, including Antarctica, where she was presenting on a ship to a group of hard core entrepreneurs and adventurers. There was only one problem. She knew at the end of her engagement she was getting paid by check and she wasn't going to be home for another few months. She needed to be able to deposit her checks into her account from around the world so her bills could continue to be paid at home. EFT Network supplied the answer, FAXTellerPLUS.

EFT Network's FAXTellerPLUS is a remote deposit capture solution that substitutes a standard fax machine for expensive desktop check or flatbed scanners. This patent pending technology, the first of its kind, allows businesses and entrepreneurs like Fran Capo to enjoy all of the benefits of traditional remote deposit capture without the expense of a check scanner, internet service, special equipment or software to purchase, download or maintain.

"EFT Network's FAXTellerPLUS allowed me to simply take my checks, place them in a transparent plastic three sleeve check carrier and transmit them to my bank via a standard fax machine within minutes,” said Fran Capo. The check carriers are customized with unique identifiers with both depositor and depository information to allow Fran’s money to go into the correct account. “I had tested it out first at my stop in Ushara, Argentina known as the end of the world. It was simple. I used their hotel fax, within minutes I had a confirmation that my check was in my account,” said Capo.

The true test would come in Antarctica, the most remote location in the world with only satellite phones and email as the only source of communication. “Unless I was going to send my check via carrier penguin, I’d have to hold onto it, which isn’t a smart way to make your money work. So I hooked up a satellite phone to a fax machine, and plugged in the fax machine. Then I put my check in the carrier and there amongst the seals, killer whales and penguins I was sending my money home. If I could send it from there I could send it from anywhere!” said Capo.

“That was the harshest conditions that our FAXTellerPLUS system would ever face. “It’s where, Remote Deposit Really Gets Remote!” said Steve Davis, president of EFT Network. “EFT Network has set the benchmark for 2009 with FAXTellerPLUS. We are excited to be one of the first to deliver such an innovative product. We are the only vendor to offer this solution for businesses and the home market,” continued Davis.

“FAXTellerPLUS is the perfect time saving solution for business people like me on the go, simple, fast, no wire transfer fees and I can do it from anywhere in the world. As a world record holder, I like anything that is ground-breaking. This gets my fast talking seal of approval,” said Fran Capo.
